PERFORMER

The senior class dedicates the Chieftain to Mr. Jacob A. Rennard in grateful appreciation for the contribution he has made to the welfare of the class and school. As class sponsor he has faced many difficult problems, but with the experience gained from sponsoring eight other senior classes, he has always found a solution and carried our class through to a successful conclusion.

Mr. Rennard, a native of Phoenixville received both his B.S. and M.S. from Penn State. He came to Glen-Nor after many years of teaching experience at North Coventry High School.

In four years he has served Glen-Nor as head of the science department, he has made many a science problem clear to his classes. As attendance director he has convinced many a tardy student of the need for punctuality.

Mr. Rennard states: "You as seniors, have reached one of your goals in your struggle through life.

"You have possibilities of doing great things—provided you put forth the effort—Which I know that you are capable of putting forth.

"You reap, in later years, what you sow in early life. You have gained knowledge, during the years at Glen-Nor, put that knowledge to an excellent use after you leave."

BIG SHOW AGENTS

HARRY OAKES
Editor

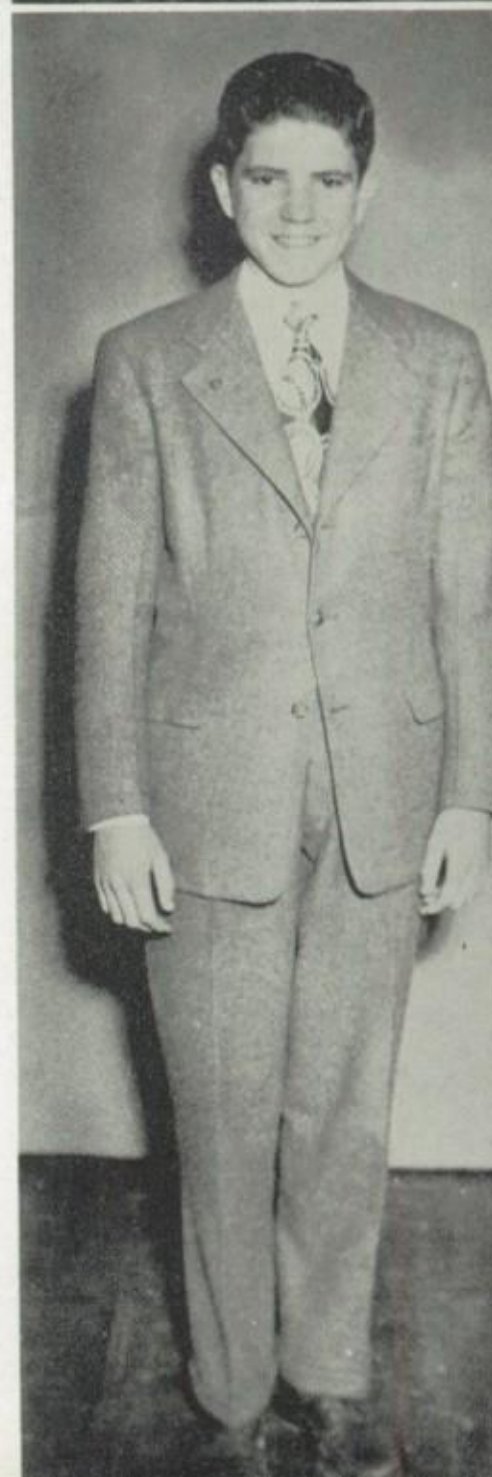

"Let's have a red, white, and blue clown on the Chieftain cover this year. We need something different." "No! a thousand times no! It would cost us too much and look cheap besides." With these and hundreds of other similar arguments, the problems of the 1949 Chieftain were slowly worked out. Under the capable supervision of Mr. Wert and the talent and experience of our editor, Harry Oakes, the staff's dream of the biggest and best yearbook in Glen-Nor's history came true. This was quite a feat, too, as last year's annual won first prize in the Columbia University Scholastic Press Contest and second prize in the University of Minnesota Scholastic Press Contest. But this year the book was enlarged to 80 full pages, all the freshman, sophomores, and juniors were given individual pictures, and many other improvements were made over last year's Chieftain.

However, to get first class year books is a lot more work than most people realize. The job was started last year when Miss Isabel Creagmile signed the contract for the Campus Publishing Company to publish the book and chose the staff. This year Mr. Wert was made Chieftain sponsor and he and the staff set right in on getting the yearbook ready. First, the theme had to be chosen and after the circus theme was adopted, the general plan had to be drawn up to determine where each section should be and how long it should be. Then the staff got a master copy from the Campus Publishing Company and laid out everything just as it would be, laying out spaces for photographs, write-ups, and sketches. Next Wick Studios was hired to take pictures, the staff photographers started taking snapshots, and work was started on the write-ups and drawing. After all of these were in, there was still the job of checking and typing the articles and sending everything to press, carefully marked to show how it was to be.

The actual publishing was only half the job. We also had to get about $2.150 to pay for it. The subscription drive, started off with a bang by an assembly program, was one of the main ways in which this was accomplished. The drive was very successful this year and paid off with over 300 subscriptions. Also the ads and patrons in the back of the book helped to offset the publishing cost. The ads were a new feature this year and contributed several hundred dollars. However, probably the greatest money-getter of all was the assessments paid by the classes and organizations of the school for their write-ups and pictures in the Chieftain.

After all the work of publishing and paying for the Chieftain, the staff was still agreed that the fine yearbook we produced was well worth all the trouble.

KEEPING ORDER

Among the Crowd

Seated: Miss Jones, B. Plumb, F. Sebelist, S. Doyle. Standing: L. Beissel, L. Whitaker, B. Smith.

The Glen-Nor Student Council is one of the most important and powerful organizations in the school. The council consists of representatives elected from each of the homerooms, plus a president and vice-president elected in the big spring elections. With the able leadership of the sponsor, Miss Jones, and the president, Fred Sebelist, the council conducts many polls to find the wishes of the student body. Then the proper committees look into these wishes and finally the council acts upon them.

One of the most important committees is the monitors. These are responsible for keeping the traffic moving smoothly in the halls.

This year the monitors are also trying to take over the cafeteria at lunch time instead of requiring a teacher to supervise.

Another committee manages the charity drives. This year, instead of having a separate drive for each charity, there was a big "five-in-one" drive and the proceeds were split between the five major charities.

Other committees take charge of the juke box and awarding attendance, neatness, and citizenship banners. They also have charge of the point system awards in the spring.

The student council is a fine example of democracy in the making.

THEY HAVE FUN

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Gertrude Hutchins, the Y-Teens hold their meetings every other Monday evening. This organization is built around a four point program—service, knowledge, health and recreation. To fulfill their program the girls have been busy making place mats and menus for soldiers in hospitals and mittens for unfortunate children. In February they put on a Valentine assembly program. Through the efforts of their officers, however, meetings haven't been all work and no play. There have been lots of good times—skating, swimming, giving "terrific" initiations and putting on skits. Climaxed annually by the Mother-Daughter Banquet, the Y-Teens strive for a 100 per cent attendance at this event. Executives include President, Margaret Aird; Vice-president, Doris Hutchins; Secretary, Margaret Miller; Corresponding Secretary, Ruth Paul; Treasurer, Pat Borton; Chaplain, Doris Hollenbaugh and inter-Club Council Representatives, Helma Corson, and Suzanne Jenkins.

HONOR SOCIETIES

Membership in the National Honor Society is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a student at Glen-Nor. Members are nominated and voted for by the faculty who base their choice upon the four aims of the society: scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Besides being an honorary society, the National Honor Societies have several important functions; one of which is providing the student chairman and the devotional leader for our assembly programs each week.

One of the highlights of the social year at Glen-Nor is the annual teas held in the spring of the year to welcome new members and their parents, and one of the most dramatic assembly programs is the installation of new members into the society.

The societies are sponsored by Miss Ruth I. Hassler.

The officers of the senior organization this year included: Harry Oakes, president; Ralph Knoll, vice-president; and Margaret Aird, secretary-treasurer.

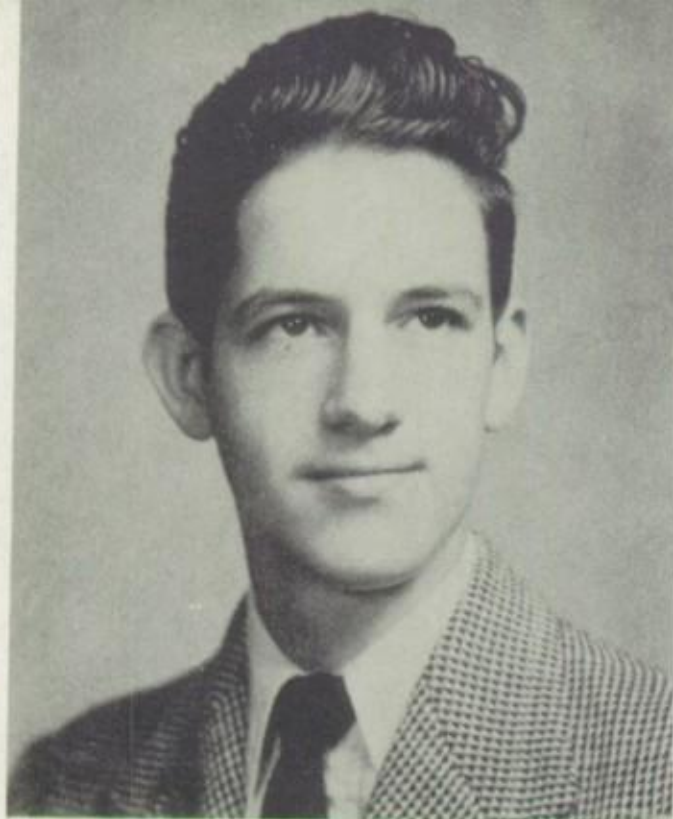

The officers of the junior society are: Gretchen Glick, president; Marion Davis, vice-president; and Shirley Fenner, secretary-treasurer.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Since 1933 membership in the Quill and Scroll, the International Honorary Society of High School Journalists, has been one of the most sought after honors available at Glen-Nor.

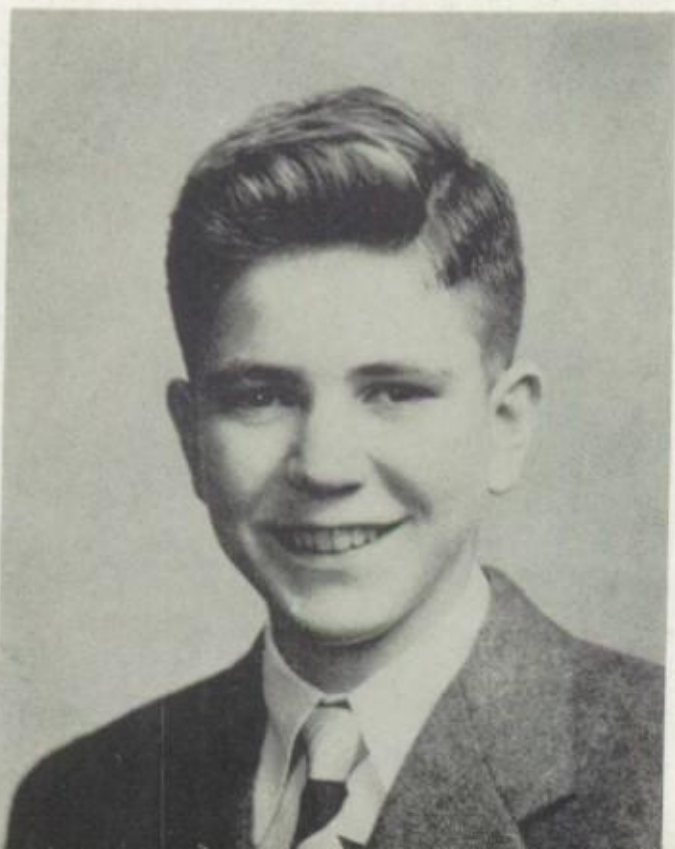

Membership is based on a high scholastic standing and notable service to the Chieftain staff. Membership must also be approved by the national officers. At Glen-Nor the honor is reserved for seniors and membership is usually announced at the final senior assembly.

The sponsor of the Quill and Scroll is Mr. Robert Wert who is also the sponsor of the Chieftain.

THE BAND

If you ever happen to hear the lively strains of martial music coming out of the gym early some frosty morning, that is the Glen-Nor band braving the tortures of getting up for the fun of playing. Last fall in the Cultural Olympics' band competition, this practice paid off with four awards, the highest possible honor.

At all the football games and parades the band also shows its excellence with a beautiful display of majorettes, color guards, acrobats, and band, all performing at once. It also plays indoors at all the assembly programs and in both the January concert with the Elks band and the large combined spring concert, where the fine music always draws a large crowd. The band is now putting on a drive for new uniforms to further improve itself.

Much of the credit for the band is due to the very popular and accommodating director, Mr. Marlin O'Neal, who does a wonderful job taking charge of all the music in the school.

What? You don't know who that is in the auditorium playing that hot jazz? Why that's the Glen-Nor Swing Band. This organization, under the direction of Mr. O'Neal, plays all the latest tunes at numerous affairs like the senior play, several assemblies, and meetings in the community. It adds the rhythm and popular appeal to the spring concert which is necessary to make it a success.

The senior and junior glee clubs are two other popular musical organizations in the school. They perform in various Christmas programs and in the Spring Concert. Their large and loyal memberships are proof of the statement that almost everybody likes to sing.

Last but not least in the musical organizations are the much demanded brass choir, and numerous soloists, duos, trios, and quartettes.

The visual aids committee or the "Vis Ed" as it is popularly called is under the direction of the Assistant Principal, Mr. Edgar E. Richards. The activities of this group are felt by everyone at Glen-Nor. Included in their activities are the following important jobs: running the sound projector for assembly programs and class instruction, running the silent projectors, disc jockeying for the Friday and Saturday night dances, operating the P. A. system for various school activities which included playing Christmas carols after school during the holiday season, taking care of the show cases, and many other jobs that are included in the visual education program. The student chairman of this important committee is Richard Rex, a junior.

BEHIND THE SPOTS

PERFORMERS GET TOGETHER

LIBRARY

A junior high club whose chief intention is library service has been organized by a newcomer this year, Mrs. Aderhold. Pupils are enlightened in filing catalog cards, arrangement of shelves, checking in of books, and decoration of bulletin boards. Another main purpose is for these girls to acquire knowledge for identifying various books about which they would ordinarily be uninformed.

S. Coronway, P. Castle, Mrs. Aderhold, H. Nelson, A. Wolfenden, J. Empson, Y. Flynn, A. Jones, J. McAllister, B. Dukes.

PUBLICITY

Another active group at Glen-Nor has been organized by Mrs. Mayer. Assembly programs, sport events, class happenings, club news, and many other activities have been written up by this group for publication in both the Interboro News and Chester Times.

MATH

The math team under the capable direction of Mrs. Gertrude E. Hutchins won second honors in last year's elementary mathematics examination sponsored annually by Temple University. This is the first time that a Glen-Nor team has placed so high. We hope they have as much success this year.

TAKES A HOLIDAY

Our Senior Prom, or using its formal appellation, " 'Twas the Night Before Christmas," was a huge success. The gym was changed into a perfect Christmas scene with snow on the sides, Santa and his reindeer in the sky, and Christmas trees everywhere, to say nothing of the white crepe paper ceiling. The girls looking their prettiest in evening gowns, and the boys, all decked out in tuxedos, made a truly beautiful sight swaying across the floor to the melodies of the "Haverfordians."

During the intermission, Old Saint Nick appeared and gave candy canes to all the girls for souvenirs. At midnight when the dance ended, most of the couples went to a little place to get something to eat. (They'll never go there again.) All in all, our prom was a thrill that will be long remembered by all who attended.

Steals the Show

Early in October, Mr. Bernard Seigel, director of dramatics, began to plan for the coming Senior Play. A student committee was chosen and in a short while, a decision was reached to stage the comedy, "Moonlight for Herbert," by Dana Thomas. Tryouts were held, the cast was selected and the production begun. After seven weeks of rehearsing, the cast was ready to don their makeup. "Moonlight for Herbert" proved itself to be a great success, since it sent home three very satisfied audiences.

BIG TOP

QUEEN

Miss Ruth Starke

The chief attraction on Field Day, a traditional event of every Glen-Nor year, is the coronation of the May Queen, the senior girl voted most beautiful by the student body. Because the Chieftain went to press before the election this year, it is not known to whom the honor for '49 went. In 1948, this honor was bestowed upon Ruth Starke, a radiant blonde beauty. Her attendants, who were runners-up for the title, wore pastel shaded gowns. They included Phyllis Thompson, Lola Goldsborough, Pat Finan, and Pat Cassels. Four year old Judith Williamson was the flower girl.

A DAY OFF

Yea-Bo Maroon! Let's Go Gold! These were the cries that were heard on May Day when the two inter-school teams clashed for the field day awards.

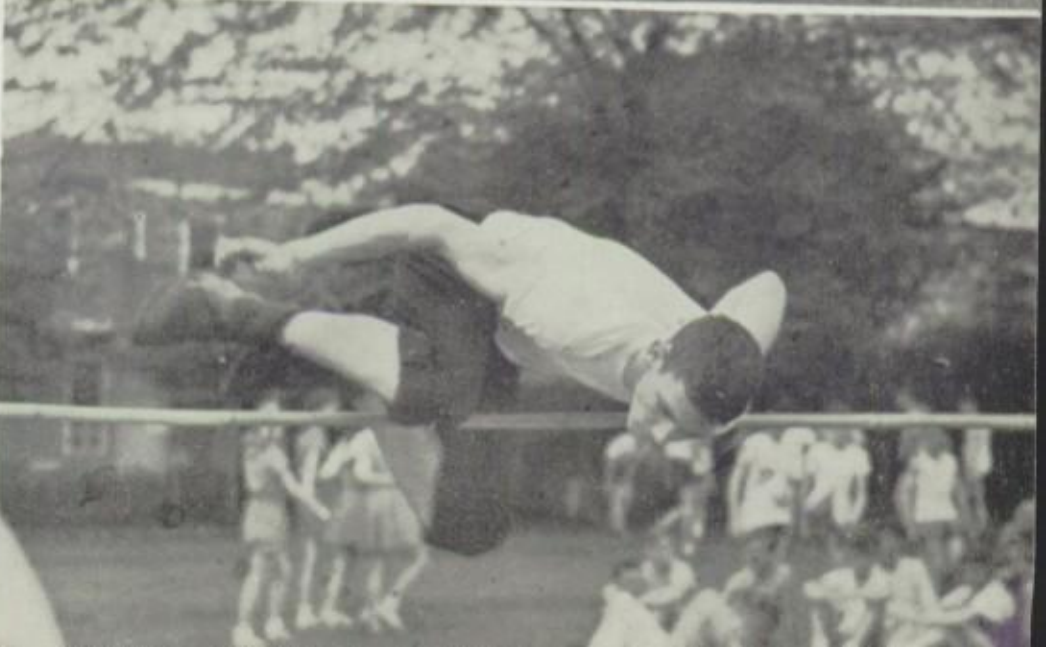

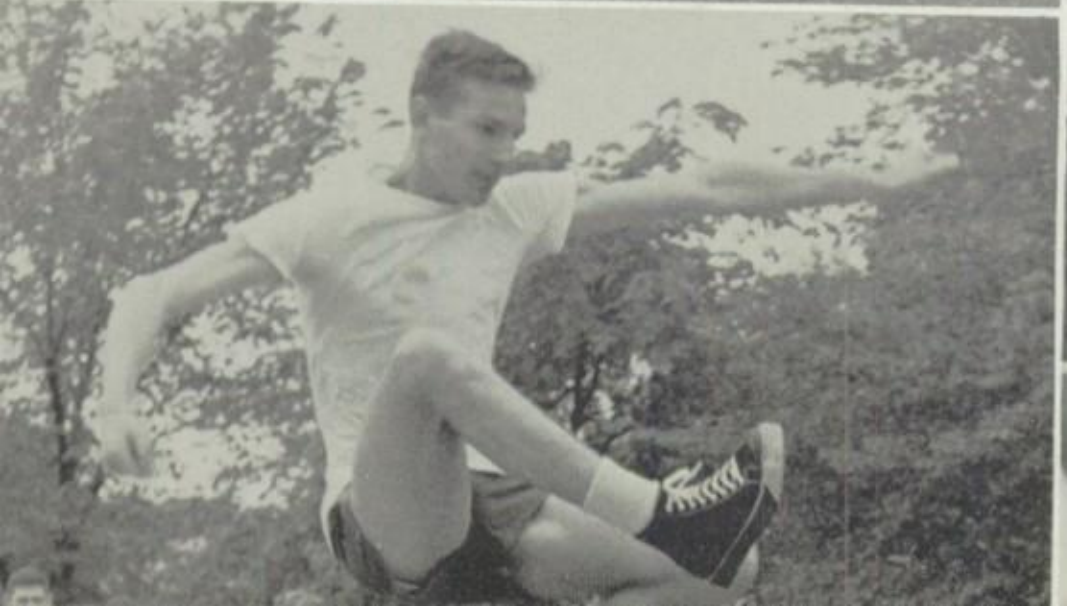

The big event led off with the colossal parade which featured such things as the Jerko String Band, The Golden Nuggets, Humphrey's House along with other colorful and amusing incidents.

After the parade, came what many thought the most colorful of all events; the crowning of the May Queen, who was Ruth Starke, Class of '48.

After the coronation came the announcement that the Maroon Team had won the parade and had drawn first blood.

Everyone went to their appointed place and the field day was under way.

During the day the lead shifted back and forth between the teams and when the final tally was announced the result was that the Maroon Team had won by the score of 538  $\frac{1}{6}$  to 479  $\frac{5}{6}$ .

KEEPING THE PLACE IN SHAPE

Anyone entering our school notices immediately how clean and tidy everything is. The credit for this belongs to our hard-working maintenance staff headed by Mr. Kitchen. Mr. Kitchen often works as many as eighteen hours a day, heating the school in the morning and staying until the last person leaves at night. He has innumerable duties and is helped by Mr. Baker, who does an excellent job taking care of the outside grounds. A number of women come in every night to clean all the rooms and halls.

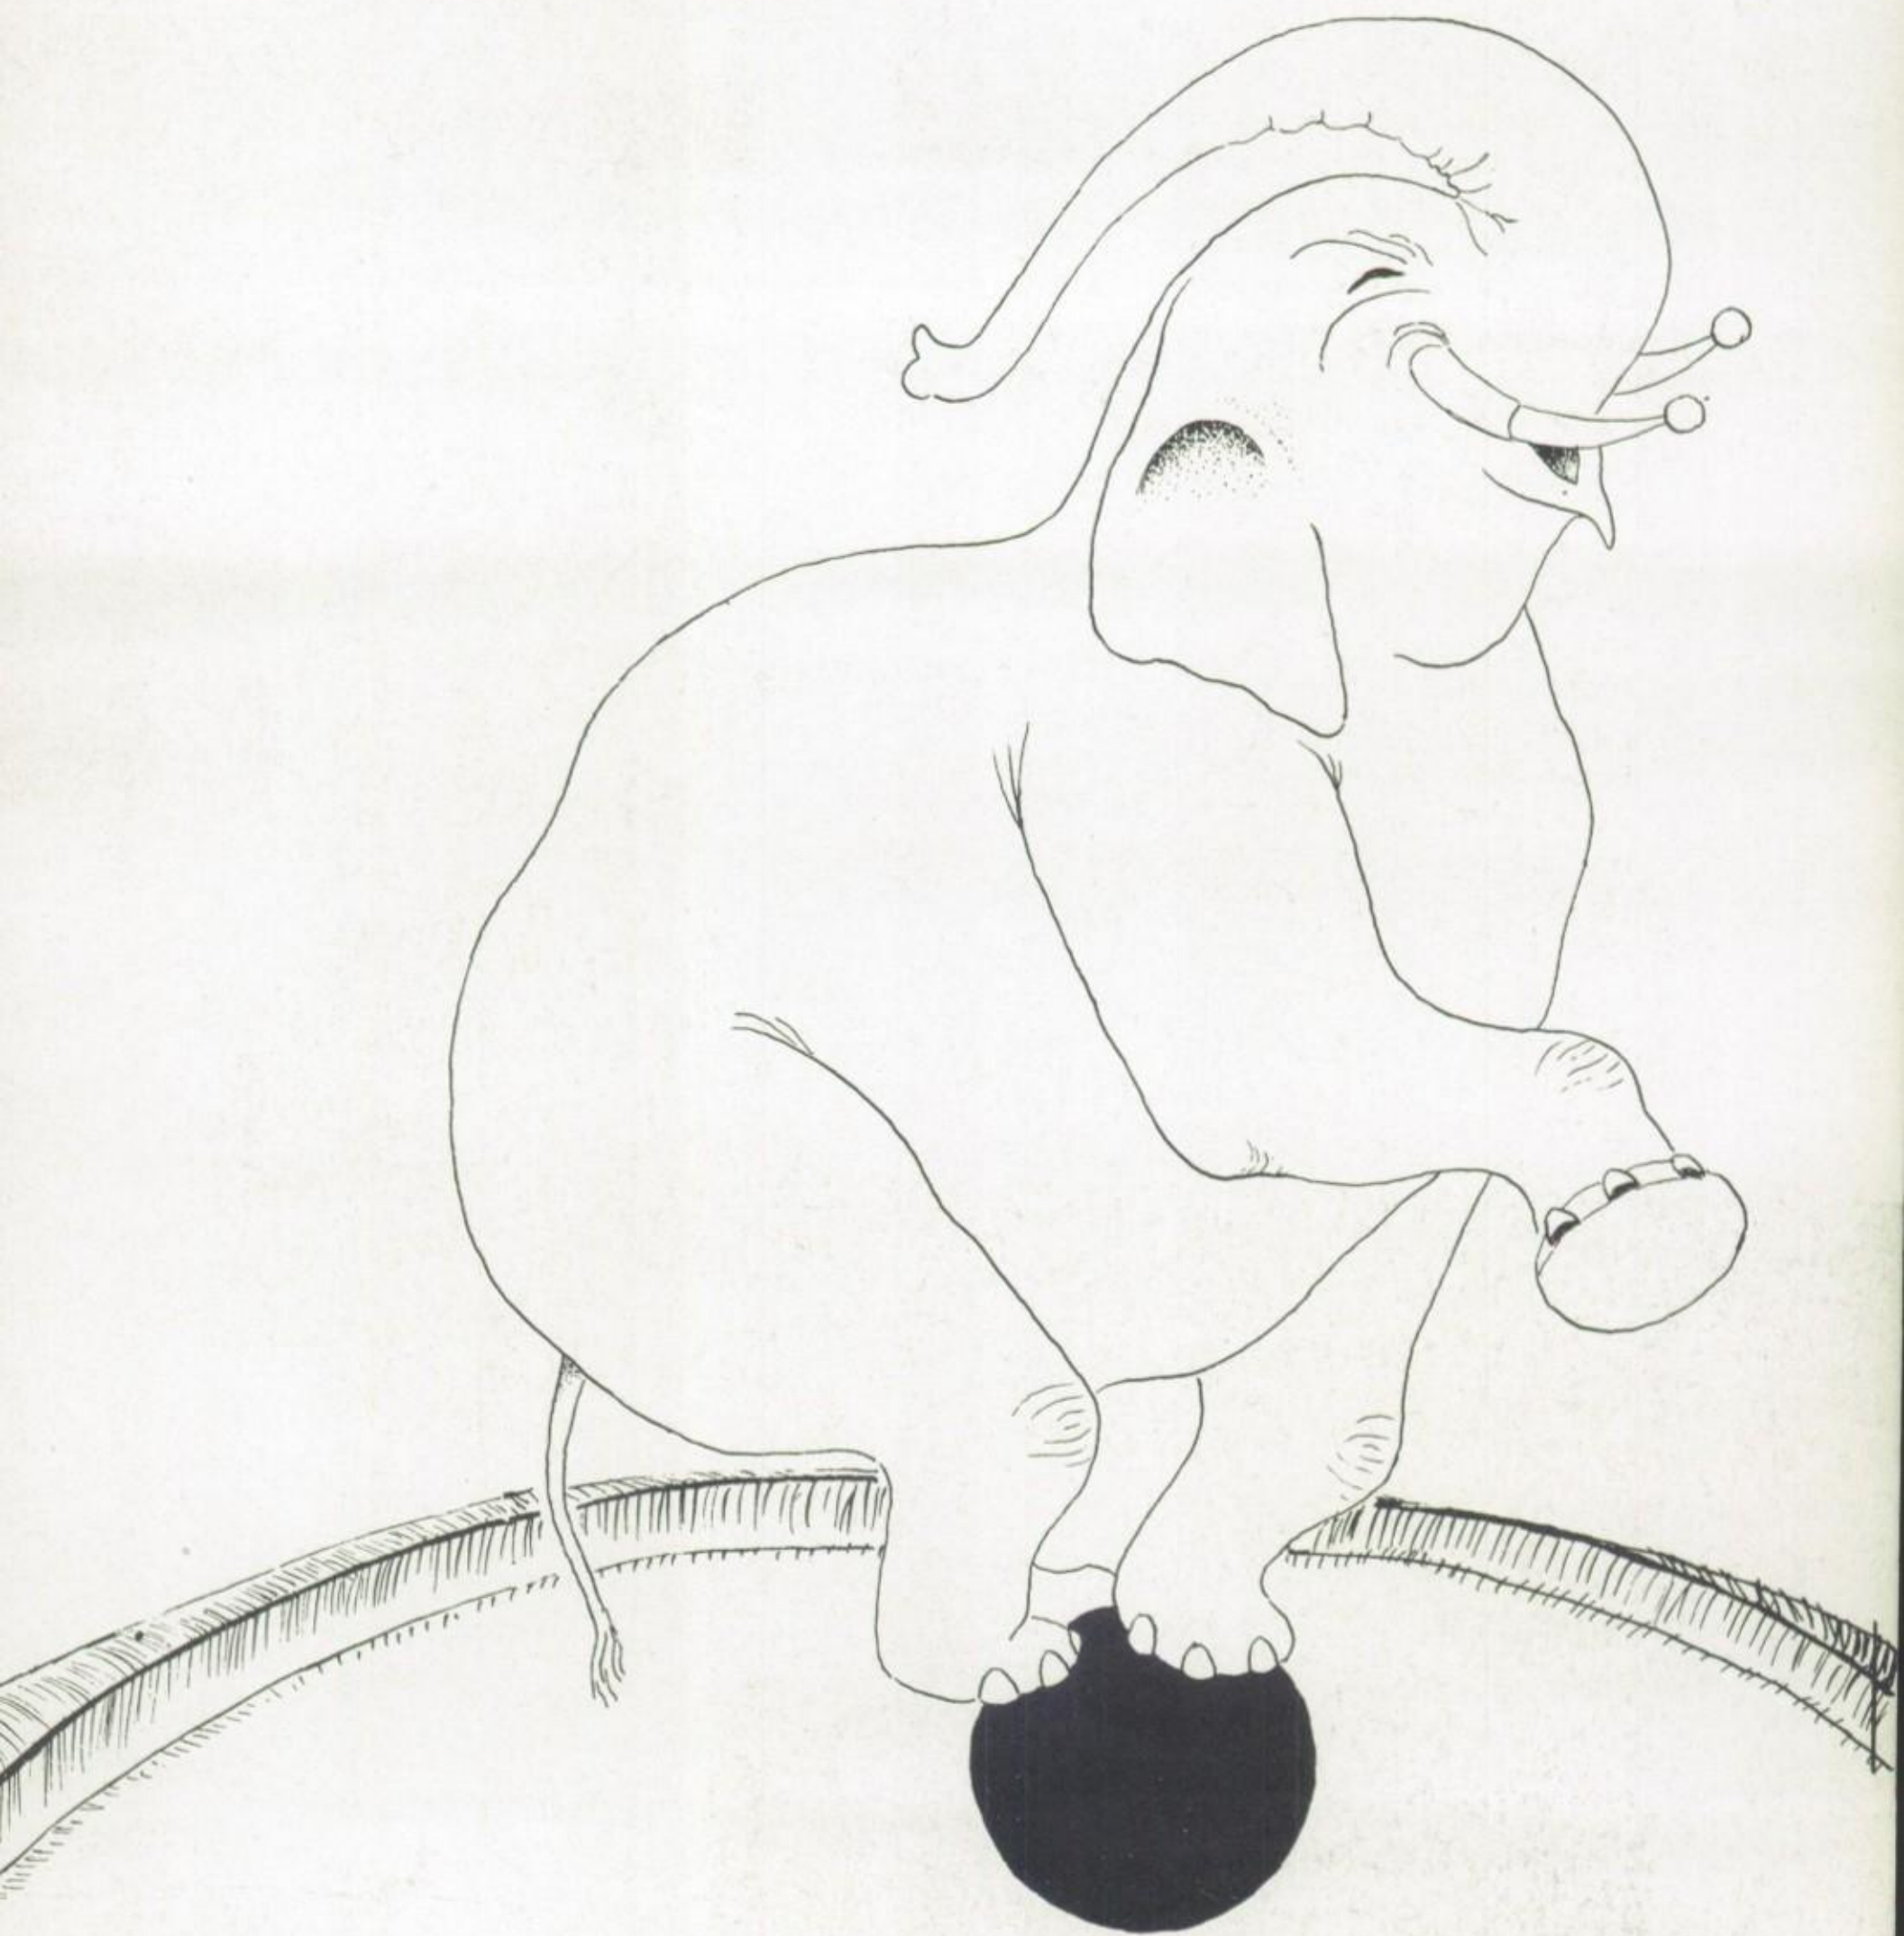

The Cafeteria staff also deserves a lot of credit for furnishing hot, wholesome lunches to the students at very moderate prices. Along with these platters they also sell soup, sandwiches, milk, and desserts to hundreds of pupils each day. It is a tremendous job in these days of high prices to provide a balanced diet, and the cafeteria staff deserves our wholehearted congratulations on a fine job.

J. Olsen, Coach

Early in September a group of boys met who were to be the Indian gridders of '48.

Coach Olsen looked over the squad and found he had but one man from last years varsity, Dick McCauley. The team immediately got down to work—at first learning fundamentals, then working up to the plays which were (in the exception of Yeadon) from the single wing rather than last years T formation.

The first game was against a highly rated Clifton Heights aggregation and to the surprise of many, the Indians fought hard and long with Bert Roan being the big gun in that one with two touchdowns.

The Sharon Hill and Eddystone games were somewhat of a disappointment but then came the P. S. Dupont tray when losing at half-time 6-0 the team roared back with vengeance, and although there were only fifteen fans on the G-N side of the field, the boys on the bench gave the added spirit to drive on for a Touchdown.

"Arizona" Wilson crashed over and Billy (educated toe) Jones added the extra and winning point.

Although the boys fought with courage and skill, they just couldn't overcome the odds with Prospect Park, Swarthmore, Collingdale, and the big gun of Delaware County, the Green Raiders from Ridley Township.

On turkey day, the maroon and gold met Yeadon who after thirteen games in the series beginning in 1935, had only won one and tied one from the Indians. Yeadon fought valiantly to a 6-0 victory.

As a post-season thought, Captain Dick McCauley was chosen second string tackle on the All Delaware County team.

At the beginning of this year's grid season, coaches Olson and Knoll decided that there was a need for a J. V. Football team which would give the second and third string players a chance for actual game experience. The J. V.'s followed almost the exact schedule as the Varsity, playing their games the week following the Varsity's Saturday game.

The J. V.'s ran up an enviable record winning two while dropping only one and tying two.

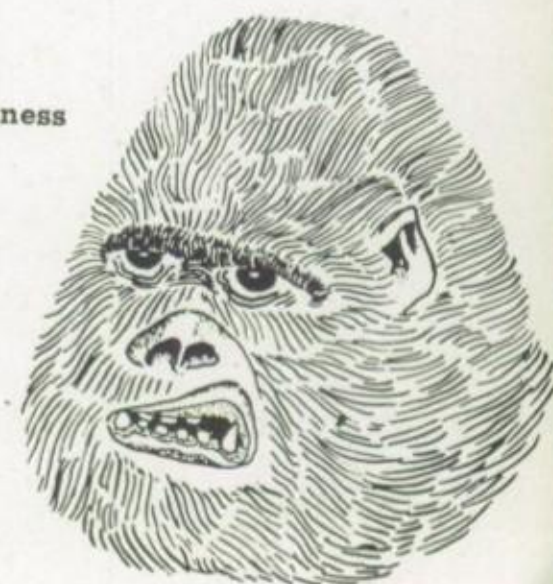

The team showed lots of fight and was led on by such stand-outs as Louie Llewellyn, Jim Veacock, Charley Ellis, and many others who played outstanding football.

It is well to note that the J. V. players of this year will be the future Indian line smashers, blocking backs and tough line that will represent Glen-Nor in the coming campaigns.

Having completed a successful season, losing two games, both by 2-1 scores, and winning six, the brilliant hockey stars of 1948 hung up their tunics for another year. Under the capable coaching of Mrs. Betty Palmer, the hockeyists, with the brilliant playing of Ethel White, who during the season was a dread to our opponents with six goals, along with Dot Orr, our fullback captain, and Doris Mellon, stellar halfback, gave our foes of nearby communities something to remember. Our little sophomore goalie, Marian Rowdon, should inspire the underclassmen, for she, along with Nancy Richards, will be letter winners of the '48 season. But let's not forget our other seniors, who have laid down their sticks by winning their last game. These include Jessie Bishop, our persistent fullback, Margaret Aird, the gal who gave the opposing centers plenty of trouble, Doris Hutchins and Carol Teetsel, inners with beautiful stickwork, and small but mighty Shirley Doyle, who was a passing sensation for her fellow varsity members.

Next year, with nine letter recipients returning, the field hockey enthusiasts endeavor to bring to the school an undefeated, red-letter season.

E. Mandle, L. Witaker, E. Onimus, D. Bonsall, A. Porterfield, R. Jarvis.

The '48-'49 basketball season was somewhat of a disappointment to the student body of Glen-Nor, for the Indians went through the season winning but one game.

Some of the outstanding players on the squad were: Russ Bamberger, forward, who, although handicapped by a bad ankle, was always a scoring threat to the opposition. There were also Don Bonsall and Bill Bevan, alternating forwards, who along with dumping in two pointers played a rugged floor game.

The center position was held down by lengthy Leighton Whittaker who by sinking those fading one handed shots was always near the top in the scoring column.

Scrappy would be the appropriate adjective to describe little Dick Brock who was not noticed by the spectators until the latter part of the season when he began sinking baskets right and left.

Veteran guard, Skip Knoll, was the key man in the setup for it was Skip who attempted to get his teammates to work together. Skip had a rather poor scoring season although occasionally he managed to get free of his guard and set up a shot.

Among the reserves who usually go unnoticed for their efforts were Andy McLaren, fleet little guard, easy Ed Mandl, who was understudy to Leighton Whittaker, and was known for his tricky passes, Eddie Onimus, who as only a sophomore, gained much experience as a forward on the varsity.

Mr. Knoll is looking forward to a more successful season next year. He hopes that his players have gained basketball knowledge and experience by this season.

Because the Chieftain must go to press we will not be able to publish the results of the Kiwanis tournament where Glen-Nor plays Ridley Park.

Kneeling: J. Colberg, J. Reynolds, K. Branton, C. Colberg, R. Pitts, C. Veacock, G. Llewellyn, R. Bachman. Standing: W. Hirst, R. Tepper, C. Ellis, D.

Deckert, W. Knoll, R. Drumheller, G. Jurosky, D. Doub, J. Cassel, J. Weinrich.

The J. V. squad under Mr. Hirst fared better than the Varsity this year by winning seven and losing eleven. It is interesting to note that a large percentage of the losses were by very close margins; three of them were lost by one point.

Mr. Hirst picked a fast, sharp shooting team to represent Glen-Nor. Among these were Charley Ellis, who was always a main factor in the point getting department, and Louie Llewellyn, little, but mighty handy to have on the team. Those boys were the forwards. George Jurosky held down the center slot and his height greatly aided the Indians.

The guards were Jim Veacock and John Reynolds. It was these boys that held down the oppositions' high scorers.

PRECISION PERFORMANCE

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

First Row: E. White, S. Doyle. Second Row: V. Eisenbrey, D. Orr, J. Hitchner, N. Richards, E. Hardenberg, C. White, D. Hitchens, C. Teetsel, J. Bishop, D. Mellon. Third Row: J. Gillard, D. Hollanbaugh, R. Reese, L. Lacox, S. Jenkins, C. Dyson, M. Rowdon.

S. Glenn, N. Sherman, D. Bradshaw, Mrs. Luckman. Fourth Row: B. Plumber, J. Anderson, R. Paul, R. Seifert, J. Gray, T. Corson, B. Homan, M. Miller, D. Barker, J. Hagerman.

A small, but mighty squad makes up this year's court six under the sincere coaching of Mrs. Anne Luckman. Consisting mostly of juniors, these females need only experience to become an A-1 team.

Returning this year are three previous letter winners with plenty of zip. All three constitute this season's shooting gallery: these include Elaine Hardenbergh, our tallest player who this year switched from her guarding post to a sharp shooting forward; Joan Hitchner, a little girl with plenty on the ball, and a dead-eye at the basket; and senior Dot Orr, whose floor work is superior, and her aiming ability far above average. Nancy Richards, a sophomore plays very well and thrills the spectators with her corner set shots.

On the defensive side, Jessie Bishop, our jolly, but speedy guard; Claire White, a brilliant shot-blocking artist; and Ginnie Eisenbrey whose earnest playing brings her many hard blows from the floor, but usually ends up with the possession for Glen-Nor, excelled in every second of their defensive 32 minutes.

Having lost thus far all our games, most of which we gave the other team plenty to worry about, the squad pushes forth more effort, having learned a new set of plays which are bound to work, and the will of every girl on the squad to win.

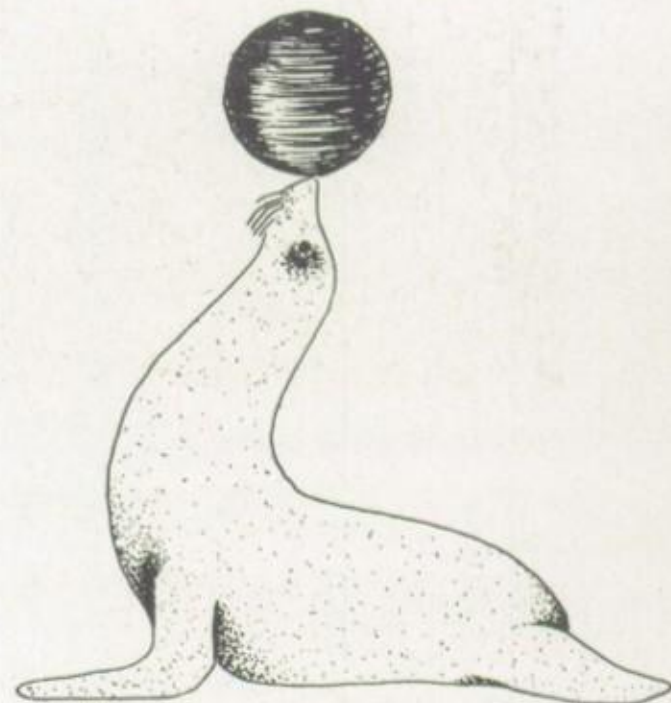

But let's not forget our J. V.'s who have put forth magnificent exhibitions in all their competitions. On the shooting side of the black line we find Ethel White, a most sincere player; Marian Rowdon, who is going to excell in her later years at Glen-Nor; and Pat King whose vim is upheld all 32 playing minutes. The guards, Carol Dyson, Sue Jenkins, Shirley Glenn, Carol Teetsel, and Dos Hutchins, control the backboard, block shots, and play their heart out to send the ball to the hustling forwards to chalk up two points.

Next year with all six varsity players returning, Mrs. Luckman and her team hope for a record breaking Glen-Nor team.

Mrs. Luckman

BALANCE

Row One: A. Holmes, D. Deckert, J. Cassels, W. Bevan, P. Wilps, L. Brummitt, J. Veacock, G. Brim, J. Martin. Row Two—Mr. Fricker, F. Sebelist, W. Reid, J. Gilbert, R. Roan, H. Baker, F. Bort, W. Westerberg, E. Onimus, R. Endriss, J. Ferguson, J. Schneider, A. Porterfield, R. Neave.

Last year Coach Fricker was faced with a tough season with only one of the preceding year's lettermen returning, John Gilbert.

But before the season began he had formed a team that had lots of spirit.

The team finished 4th in the league with a record of 2 wins and 6 losses.
